

83.9 KPCC

California is facing a looming dental crisis as it prepares to transition nearly a million more youngsters into Medi-Cal's already overburdened dental programs. "Currently, families are really struggling to access dental care for their families," says Jenny Kattlove, author of the report, Fix Medi-Cal Dental Coverage . "Often times they have to wait months even just to get an appointment and/or they have to travel great distances to get care."

Download the interview here .

To listen to the interview, link here .